

Graduate Development Opportunities in 2010

POSITION: Various

SALARY: $53,291 - $57,860

LOCATION: Perth

The Office of Energy plays a vital role in the coordination of energy policy which drives the economic and commercial interests of the WA economy. The Office has a clear vision; reliable, sustainable and competitively priced energy for the benefit of all Western Australians. As a Graduate Development Officer you can help the Office of Energy realise that vision and develop a strong foundation for your career at the same time.

The Graduate Development Program is a 12 month placement designed to give Graduates experience in all aspects of energy policy including: markets & regulatory policy, sustainable energy development, energy reform and energy within industry & community.

The Office of Energy provides formal training during the program to help Graduates develop their knowledge of Government processes and frameworks such as: the Legislative Framework, Public Sector Policy Development, Finance & Budgeting among others. In addition, Graduates will be networked with previous Graduate Development Officers and each Graduate will be paired with a mentor appealing to common interests.

Good policy requires a broad skill set combining communication & interpersonal skills, team work and conceptual & analytical skills. The Office of Energy is seeking Graduates with a good academic record in analytical disciplines including:

- Economics
- Environmental Science
- Engineering
- Law
- Finance
- Business
- Maths

Energy is essential for the WA economy and energy policy is highly strategic. The Graduate Development Program is an excellent opportunity for a new Graduate to develop fundamental skills for a dynamic career in strategic policy.

To access information about the positions, please visit www.jobs.wa.gov.au and key 'energy' into the Search Box.

The department is initially seeking to fill 4 positions for a 12 month period. Other suitable applicants may be placed in a pool from which people may be appointed to a range of vacancies, full-time and part-time, as they occur. The pool will operate for six (6) months from the date of initial placement into the pool.
